Living The Life

West Valley students take it easy. Above, Crystal Flaherty does the volley ball shuffle. Above right, Darci Heil, Marika Maeuser and Trina Lee at lunch. We got plenty Swami!

Of Fame And Fortune

Every day at West Valley is a new adventure. The day starts around 8:30 and lasts until 3:30. Somehow during these 7 1/2 hours the stars are into the craziest things. Can it be that this eases the pressures in the fast lane?

There's a signpost up ahead that reads West Valley High. It borders a new dimension, one not of mind and body, but of sight and sound. It is in this zone, inside of these solid walls, that lie the minds and bodies of the West Valley students. These are the people who have voiced these opinions, and we proudly present them to you in the Aquila.

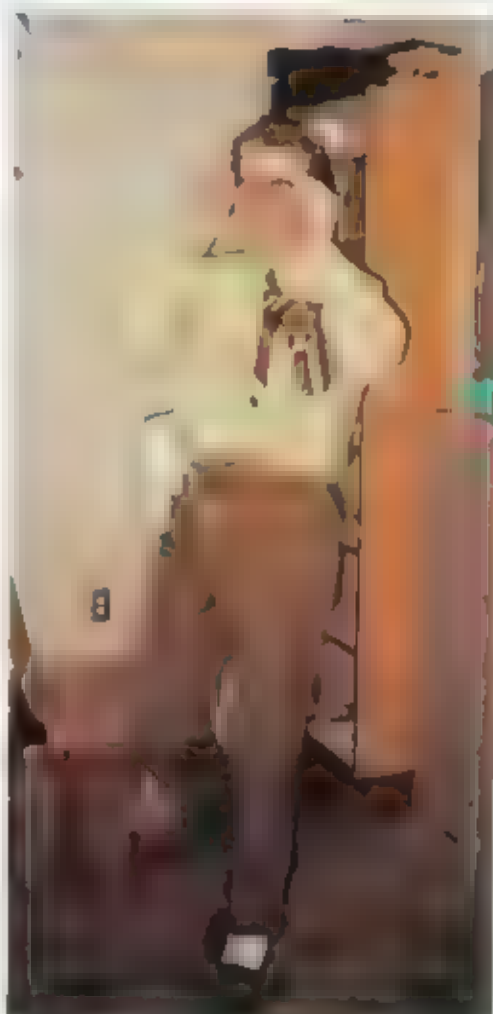

Top, Katie Beloit can't believe some of these choices. Above our choice for man of the year, Groucho of course

Who's got the spirit? We sure do! Whether its during class or at rallies, at lunch or dressing up for spirit week. West Valley students have spirit

Wild And Crazy

Stop, look and cheer. We've all wanted to do something wild and crazy at some time in our lives. Here are a few shots of our wild and crazy friends at W.V.H.S. Dress up days, lunch time activities and in the stands at games are a great place to find people being wild and crazy.

Football Homecoming

It had everything necessary for a major production: glamour, suspense and yes, even violence. Casting consisted of a handsome king, a beautiful queen and a picture-perfect royal family. Halftime brought out the winning sophomore mural and the crowning of the queen. The varsity Eagles were victorious and every one celebrated at the homecoming dance. It was a box office hit, sure to have a sequel

Active From Morning 'Till Night

Students at West Valley take pride in everything they do. It is an essential element and one we are proud to say we do not lack. From the victories to the losses, the good times to the bad, this was a banner year for West Valley.

Winter Classic

Basketball Homecoming

The 1986 Winter Classic was kicked off with spirit week. Dress up days, lunchtime activities and a one hour rally on Friday got everyone fired up for the final game of the season against Orland. The varsity Eagles dominated the Trojans and won a great victory. Julie Ayotte was chosen Queen and Tony Baker her escort. The after game dance was a fine ending to a great Winter Classic.

MEET THE SOPHOMORES

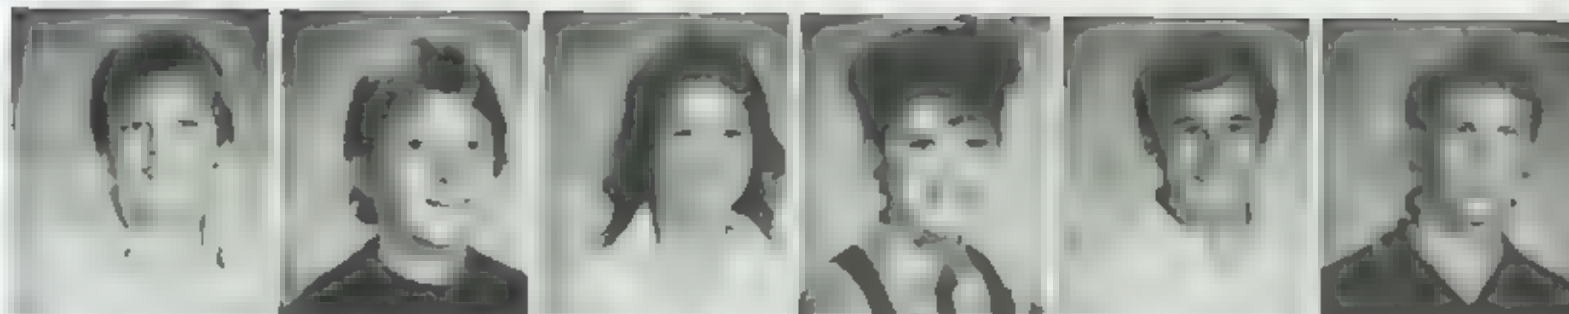

Meet the Sophomores. West Valley has a unique and diverse collection of these one year veterans. They are relaxed, unhurried, and all a bit camera shy. They have forgotten their troublesome Freshmen year and are looking forward to junior year with eager anticipation and perhaps a little reluctance at closing the door on such a fabulous year. The one hundred and eighty fun filled days they have spent being known as sophomores have flown by at an incredible speed.

The intensity and dedication of the coaching staff was contagious as the team fought through practice and competition. West Valley fans showed their support with great crowds for the home games. Next year - West Side League.

TALENT AND HUSTLE

In a team dominated by six seniors, this year's varsity players worked to maintain West Valley's reputation as a threat in the West Side League. This they did, providing entertainment for family, friends and fans. Coach Dolan took the helm this year, making the transition and building for an even better year in 87

With a lot of help from his three assistant coaches, Coach Fairley has established and carried on the winning tradition in track at West Valley. This year we hosted the Chico Invitational meet which is sure to become a tradition. There was always plenty of excitement for fans and competitors alike at the West Valley track meets!

CARS!

"I can't wait until I can drive!" How many times have you heard it? Or said it yourself? That's the story at West Valley. Our special circumstances, being ten miles from anywhere, make cars a very important part of life. Driver's Ed., Driver's training, taking the driving test and finally getting that license are big steps to solving the transportation problem. Finally, though, the big problem is, "How can I get some wheels?" Picture yourself on the bus. You get on and take a seat. As the driver accelerates up to forty miles an hour you notice the scenery and realize you are going five mile in the wrong direction. After half an hour on the bus you picture yourself behind the wheel of a Porsche 911, cruising in luxury-stereo tape of course! Well we can't all get the 911, but many of us have gotten some wheels. Here are some of the cars of West Valley, new, old, expensive and cheap, but they're cars.

Graduation Class Of 86

On a beautiful evening in June, the class of 86, their families, friends, teachers and school officials met for that great moment in life — graduation! Above, co valedictorians and salutatorians Eschelle Stapp, Pam Davis and Cristal Bowne read a poem of farewell to us. Above right, class president Troy Parke gave a moving opening speech. Right, these seniors were caught as they prepared to march into the seating area.

The evening was marked by strong emotions as parents watched this rite of passage. Below, ASB president Chris Norcross gave special recognition to Teija and Anna, our exchange students from Finland and Sweden. Below right, Scott, Tammy, Trevor, Sheila and Scott pondered the proceedings. Below them, the parents proudly rose as the band played the national anthem. Bottom left, master of ceremonies Mr. Palomino, School Board President Mr. Ralph Borden, Board Treasurer Mr. Jerry Hanlon and our principal, Mr. Richard Pangburn led the seniors through their last requirement at West Valley, their graduation.

It was hard to find a senior that didn't have a big smile. Left, April Parkin, Debbie Serrano, Todd Truelock, and Tony Fuson participate in one of the many cheers of the evening. Below left, Heidi Cumbee and Lisa Leavitt-Teach showed up with these crazy glasses. Below, valedictorian Cathy Woolery gave a thoughtful speech very fitting to the occasion. Bottom right, Tim Fernald barely made it on his crutches after surgery on his leg. We were glad to see him! He follows Simond Jones and is followed by Tim Rogers and Jay Duane.
